

Free Digital Champion training during COVID-19

10th June, 2020 by Katharinet

COVID-19 is forcing massive changes to the way we work, how and where – and at great speed. Having the essential digital skills to be confident and comfortable using – and exploring – digital and tech to support this adaption is more important than ever.

We are encouraging anyone who can to become a Digital Champion. Even ‘informally’ supporting friends and family to use digital devices and connectivity to stay connected, informed and safe is hugely valuable. And it’s hugely rewarding; lending a helping hand does help the world go round especially in uncertain times.

We are offering three months' free access to our award-winning Digital Champions Network for the first 100 people who would like to take this role on and would value some training and online mentor support to help them get started. This offer is for volunteers in the community or frontline staff in small charities.

You can be part of this in three easy steps:

1. Click here to find out more about the DCN and what it can offer you.
2. Click here to see the full course catalogue and whet your appetite further.
3. Then click here to apply for a licence to use the DCN and its training for free

If you have any queries about this offer please do get in touch with us at du@digitalunite.com or 0800 228 9272
