

What is Google?

Print

Google is a search engine that can be employed to find a variety of information such as websites, pictures, maps or even just the answer to the crossword clue that's been driving you mad all morning!

Google uses a computer program called a 'web crawler' that looks at the billions of websites available on the World Wide Web and examines their content to find 'keywords'. Then it indexes these to make the websites easier for the search engine to find. So if you type the word 'holidays' in the search box, for instance, Google will then show you all the websites with holiday information.

Google's key benefits and features

- There's a simple search box into which you can type your query.
- Answers are provided almost instantly.
- You can choose to search for websites, images, news, maps and much more.
- It will make suggestions for alternative search terms if you misspell a word or name.
- You can do searches just in the UK or all over the world.
- Google has also produced its own web browser, Google Chrome. The company has a huge commercial side, creating and placing the adverts you often see on websites. In addition, Google Analytics is a free service that can provide an enormous amount of information on how a website is working.

Google's safety features

- Enable SafeSearch to filter out mature content
- Browse the web in private
- Limit access to just approved apps and games on your tablet

This guide was last updated on 26/07/2018

Next steps

What is Google Chrome?

What is Google Plus?

What is a web browser?

What is the web?

What is a website?

How to browse the web in Windows 10: Microsoft Edge basics

Search guides

Search

Remote Digital Championing!

Guides covering some tips and techniques for providing remote support to learners, an increasingly important service in times of social isolation.

Find out more

Free how-to guides for your website

Why not add our award-winning and extensive range of digital skills guides to your website?

Find out more

Start a Digital Champion movement!

Could your workplace do with developing its digital skills? With funded membership opportunities currently available, now is the perfect time for organisations to join our Digital Champions Network.

Find out more

Subscribe to our newsletter

Join our mailing list to receive the latest news, offers and expert insights from our team.

First name

Last name

Email address

Submit