

Use our technology guides on your website

"The content is such a valuable addition"

At Digital Unite we offer organisations the opportunity to link to our learning guides from their websites by creating a bespoke portal page - for free!

Our motivation is purely to make our resources available as widely as possible to help more people use and enjoy digital technology.

With over 400 expert-written guides available, it really is a great resource for your community.

Take a look at just some of the organisations who have already seen the benefit of linking their site in this way:

- Culture Perth & Kinross
- Tamworth Borough Council
- Carers Support West Sussex

We've made it easy for you to include these guides on your own website in a dedicated page like ours. For free!

Using our partner portal, you will find a complete set of resources for your own digital skills guides webpage:

- A complete list of weblinks to the guide categories
- Icons to make your page look engaging

- Digital Unite branding to use alongside them

Just two easy steps

1. Fill in the form below and tick the box to confirm you agree to the memo of understanding.
2. You'll receive an email with a link to our partner portal together with your password. Just log in to copy the links and images and away you go.

Your name *

Your email address *

Your organisation *

Your website address *

I agree to let Digital Unite know when I've added the guides to my website *

You can do this however suits you: either email us at du@digitalunite.com or Tweet us at @digitalunite

I confirm that I have read and agreed to the memo of understanding linked below and that I am authorised within my organisation to do this. *

Please read the Memo of Understanding before you check this box - it's very short!

▼ CAPTCHA

This question is for testing whether or not you are a human visitor and to prevent automated spam submissions.

Submit